

COMMUNITY FORUM: GROWTH WITHOUT GRIDLOCK

Palo Alto is a great place to live, work and play. But steady growth in the downtown area over the last 15-20 years has created challenges especially around parking and transportation.

Is it possible to have growth without gridlock? Green Planning Action believes it is. Other cities and organizations have wrestled with similar issues and developed environmentally friendly innovative new solutions. We are hosting a community forum to learn from a panel of professional transportation experts who are shaping the best practices of managing growth without gridlock:

DATE Saturday August 17, 2013

TIME 1-2:30p

PLACE Avenidas Senior Center - La Comida
450 Bryant Street Palo Alto, CA 94301

AGENDA

SIGN-IN/REFRESHMENTS

WELCOME, Elaine Uang

MODERATOR, Adina Levin

PANELIST PRESENTATION/DISCUSSION

Brodie Hamilton, Director, Parking & Transportation, Stanford University

Wendy Silvani, Director, Silvani Transportation Consulting

Gary Heap, City of San Mateo Transportation Engineer

QUESTION/ANSWER (30 MIN)

CONCLUSION

To keep the dialogue going, or information on future events, please contact us at info@greenplanningaction.org

Green Planning Action is Palo Alto-focused coalition interested in promoting green planning policies, programs and practices to sustain economic growth while ensuring a healthy, livable, lively community for residents and visitors. Working together with residents, businesses, elected city officials, city staff and planning experts we hope to collectively increase Palo Alto's GPA.